Henna Chai: Annual Henna Conference to hit GTA For Fourth Year in a Row

Now in its fourth year, the annual Henna Chai event continues to bring together henna enthusiasts and artists from across Canada, opening its doors to diversity as people of all backgrounds, with the common affection for henna, anticipate its arrival. This one-of-a-kind henna conference, exclusive to the Greater Toronto Area, is hitting this year with a big bang on March 19 through to 21 at the Fairfield Inn & Suites Marriott, Mississauga.

The event is a hands-on-experience where participants will learn to use henna as a body art in its traditional form, along with all the glamour of modern applications. Using natural and handmade henna paste, henna body artwork will also be applied on each of the participants to demonstrate its versatile beauty.

The henna plant, from which henna paste is made, has been used for thousands of years in traditional weddings, art, hair care, and for relief of the symptoms of hand-foot syndrome in cancer patients. Henna Chai will introduce these uses to attendees along with bridal work, ayurvedic beauty, natural hair dye with henna and herbs, basic henna designs, henna on wood, and strategies for marketing festivals and large events.

With Bollywood entertainment and amazing Indian cuisine, Henna Chai is the perfect blend of tradition and modern day entertainment, promising a relaxing atmosphere where participants can sip their chai while learning and enjoying each other's company.

"Our goal is to bring people together from all walks of life, to learn more about henna, culture, and art at this one of a kind event," says Khadija Dawn Carryl, founder of Henna Chai.

Khadija Dawn Carryl has been organizing Henna Chai since 2007 where it began as a small event in Montreal, and has since grown rapidly and expanded to the Greater Toronto Area. A mother of six and a professional henna artist and major Canadian henna supplier, Khadija Dawn Carryl has been running her own henna business since 2005, The Henna Sooq.
